New Fitness Studio Teaches Sexy Workouts

Flirty Girl Fitness officially opened its doors just over three months ago as an exotic fitness studio offering lessons in everything from sexy hip-hop and pole dancing to striptease and even lap dancing. The facility features an urban brick-and-beam design, hardwood floors, and white leather seating in the reception area. A removable wall divides the workout space into two discrete mirrored studios. The reception desk doubles as a dancing platform for Coyote Ugly-inspired dance lessons. The space holds up to 400 guests for stand-up receptions, and evening rentals are available starting at $3,000.
